BRIDGEPORT ELECTS Table-Setting Lecture SOCIALIST MAYOR

> "Perennial Candidate" Elected After Running Six Times for Office.

bridgePort, Conn., Nov. 8. lasper McLevy, Socialist, was elected Mayor of Bridgeport yesterday. In his tenth bid for the post, McLevy ended 28 years as the "perennial candidate," by becoming the new Mayor, outdistancing a Democrat and a Republican. Unofficial returns gave McLevy 22,-445 vtoes to 16,375 for James L. Dunn, the Democrat, who sought to succeed the retiring Mayor, E. T. Buckingham; and 7321 for the Republican, John G. Schwartz Jr. McLevy, after a common school course, was apprenticed to his uncle, who was a roofer. He now is an employer. His early affiliations were with the unions. His political path led him into Socialism and his early mbership in that party was at a time when there were hardly a core of Socialists in Bridgeport. He served as a member of the party's National Committee, and as president of the Slate and Tile In Hartford, Mayor William J.

Cleveland Elects Republican Mayor After Democratic Squabble

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 8.- Enmeshed in a party squabble, Cleveland Democrats yesterday lost the Mayor's office to a Republican and Mayor's office to a Republican and former Gov. Harry L. Davis, a veteran of Ohio political battles.

Thrice Mayor of the State's biggest city, Davis, who worked as a mill hand as a boy, and who was elected Governor in 1920, defeated the incumbent Democratic Mayor, Ray Miller, by a margin larger than his supporters expected. An almost complete count in the city's 798 precincts showed Davis received 135,292 votes against 125,395 for Miller.

The Democratic split developed when Congressman Martin L. Swee-ney refused to indorse his fellow Democrat, Miller, for re-election, Miller defeated him for the nomination in the primaries.

The name of James A. Farley,
Democratic National Committeeman, entered the squabble when Farley sent Miller his best wishes, but declined to be drawn into the conflict between him and Sweeney. Earlier, however, Harry F. Payer, an Assistant Secretary of State, had asked Sweeney to support Millerand had drawn only a tartly-worded refusal for his pains.

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 8.—The O'Connell Democratic organization rolled up a record majority for a mayoral candidate in the face of the most spirited opposition that has confronted the brothers since they ascended to political power in Albany County. John Boyd Thacher, the incumbent, received a plurality of 24,907 over his opponent, Reynolds King Townsend, the candidate of a fusion group made up of independents and Republicans. Thacher received 47,813 votes and Townsend 22,906.

The normal Democratic plurality has been 23,000. All three of the Democratic candidates for the Assembly were re-elected. The O'Connell brothers, Ed and

The O'Connell brothers, Ed and Dan, rode to power on the crest of the Democratic sweep which engulied the remnants of the William Barnes Republican machine, in 1921. The O'Connell delegation was in the forefront of the "stop Roosevelt" movement at the Chicago national convention last year. The O'Connells, however, made peace with the Roosevelt faction of the state organization after Roosevelt was nominated. Later, the O'Connells advanced Thacher for the gubernatorial nomination, and with Tammany Hall went down to defeat when Herbert H. Lehman, the choice of Roosevelt and former Gov. Alfred E. A verdict for $11,200 was returned by a jury yesterday in Circuit Judge Ryan's court in favor of Alex Landau, 530 North Union boulevard, a real estate salesman, against John N. Belz, president of the J. H. Belz Provision Co., 5601 South Broadway. The verdict was based on a commission alleged to be due Landau for finding a purchaser for the provision firm.

Landau said Belz refused to com-

MIDSHIPMAN REPORTED WED

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 8.—Midhipman Harold Leonard Emmons Jr. of Saco, Mich., and Miss Helen Rhodes, Reading, Pa., were married at Elkton, Md., last Saturday, it was learned here yesterday.

Authorities of the United States Naval Academy, where Emmons is a second-year student, said they were "investigating" the report. The marriage of a midshipman is against regulations and in the past those whose marriages were discovered were required to resign. Emnons was at the academy today. His wedding was on the day the corps of midshipmen left Annapolis to go to Baltimore for the Navy-Notre Dame football game.

Washington Correspondents' Committee Acts Under Rule of 20 Years' Standing.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 .- An issue which Congress itself may be called on to settle was raised between radio broadcasters and daily newspapers when the standing committee of correspondents of the congressional press galleries yesterday rejected applications for admission to the galleries on behalf of three members of the Columbia broadcasting system's news service.

Samuel W. Bell, chairman of the standing committee, announced the decision. He said it was based on leries of more than 20 years' standing, approved by the Speaker of the House and Senate Rules Commit-tee, and restricting admission to representatives of daily newspapers and press associations furnishing a daily telegraphic service.

Henry Adams Bellows, vice-president of the Columbia broadcasting system, made an application first in letter to the Standing Committee. He then filed application for admission of three representatives of Columbia News Service, Inc., a subsidiary of the system, organized recently to collect and distribute daily news events.

Bellows was said to have conceded the letter of the rules barred radio representatives, but contended they should be amended to pernit their entry into the press section. He asserted the Radio News Service was "a recognized supplementary means of conveying news to the public."

Protesting admission of the three radio men, E. H. Harris, chairman of the Publishers' National Radio Committee of the American News paper Publishers' Association, telegraphed the committee:

"The radio, under its present control, operating under Government license which is issued by a partisan board, is not a free institution. Official recognition of radio broadcasting as a medium of disseminating news would be an of-ficial sanction of the censorship of news. If proof of the above state ment is necessary we will have our attorney appear before the committee with formal protest."

ON LIQUOR POLICY

Five city officials and four brewery representatives, meeting in the Mayor's office today, discussed the city's policy on liquor taxation, and methods of liquor sale, in view of the imminent repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the expected repeal of the State bone-dry law.

After the meeting, to which reporters were not admitted, Mayor Dickmann said no definite plan had been agreed on, and that the same bar will be sought by the Greater sistant, Don Gledhill, had been discharged by the Board of Governors, presumably because of lack: of funds.

A question before the meeting, on which no decision was reached today, was whether 3.2 per cent beer should be sold with "hard" liquor, or should be, as at present, on sale generally. The brewery say what they thought as to this. Those attending the meeting were the Mayor, Comptroller Nolte, Collector Koeln, City Counselor Hay and Associate Counselor Wayman; Henry Nicolaus and C. HAY MAKES PLEA FOR HOME RULE

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 8.— Home rule for the City of St. Louis in regulation of the sale of intoxipeal, especially as to the licensing f liquor dispensers and the amount of the license fees, was urged by city Counselor Charles M. Hay hearing last night before the House Criminal Justice Committee on House liquor control bills. Hay, for years an active dry lead-er, told the committee that in his opinion re-enactment of the old preprohibition dramshop laws, with the abuses eliminated, and with pro-vision for local option, probably would provide "the soundest system of liquor control that can be derised at the time." In urging that the cities be given the largest possible measure of local control of what he declared would be a local problem, Hay said he was presenting the views of Mayor Dickmann and other St. Louis officials, adopted in a conference held a few days ago.

Action on a substitute bill being drafted to replace several liquor control bills introduced in the House was deferred by the committee, after the hearing, until tonight. Senate Group Defers Action.

The Senate Judiciary Committee, which has agreed on the principal provisions of a substitute for the provisions of a substitute for the several liquor bills pending in the Senate, also postponed final action yesterday, after a brief hearing, until today. The delay was to permit Mrs. Clifford W. Gaylord, St. Louis, a member of Gov. Park's Advisory Commission on Liquor Control, and Mrs. Laura S. Edwards, St. Louis, representing the Missouri branch of the Women's Organization of the National Pro-hibition Reform, to appear before the committee this afternoon. Hay told the House committee there was a radical difference be-tween St. Louis and the average county of the State in the attitude on the liquor question, and that it would be wise for the Legislature to recognize this difference.

"St. Louis is wet," Hay said, "and "St. Louis is wet," Hay said, "and yet the people have very well defined ideas as to where liquor selling places shall be located and as to their control. We prefer to have a local official pass on such questions. If the people must run up to Jefferson City to appear before a supervisor here on every question of control, we will have an intolerable situation."

McAfee Also Is Heard. Hay said the control laws adopted Hay said the control laws adopted should give the city the right to determine the location of liquor establishments, the power to regulate and police such places and the right to determine the license fees. He suggested the Legislature place no limit on the amount of license fees municipalities may improve the suggested the legislature place. fees municipalities may impose.

"In my opinion, as far as St.
Louis is concerned," Hay said, "it would be extremely difficult to devise any system more satisfactory to St. Louis than the old pre-prohibition system, with the abuses eliminated. MOVIE ACADEMY SECRETARY QUITS IN DISPUTE OVER COL Associate City Counselor J. Wes-

Litvinoff Always a Hard-Hitter, Spares No One With His Barbed Wit And Usually Gets What He Goes After

Known as Stark Realist in Geneva Negotiations, He Will Give America a Taste of Diplomacy Without Emotional or Idealistic Considerations.

Soviet Foreign Minister Famed as Treaty Maker -Has Negotiated With Most of Russia's Neighbors and Plays a Clever Game in Europe.

By ALBIN E. JOHNSON, Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

GENEVA, Oct. 27 (By Mail.)-When Maxim Litvinoff-born Wallach-gets down to brass tacks in over American recognition of Russia, official Washington will be confronted with its first, and perhaps not unwelcome, introduction to stark realism in diplomacy-s realism as hard and inexorable as the conditions under which the communistic experiment is being conducted in the Union of Socialist and Soviet Republics. Americans who expect to deal with Litvinoff, or any other representative of the Soviets for that matter, on emotional or idealistic grounds, or from a purely political angle, are going to be doomed to either disappointment or failure, or both. Joseph Stalin has sent his "ace" to Washington to arrange for resumption of diplomatic relations between the American capitalistic and Russian communistic republics for just one reason-business. Other by-products which may result

They will develop in due course. European chancellories which have watched Litvinoff's rising star for the last 13 years are laying odds that the chunky Soviet Foreign Commissar will return to Europe with another diplomatic success added to his already enviable record. Since he entered the Soviet Foreign Office, under Lenin and Trotzky's Government back in 1921, Litvinoff's climb has been rapid. His first post was as Minister to Esthonia. He relinquished this to become Assistant Commissar of Foreign Affairs to the picturesque

Except in sporadic and ineffecactivity outside the Soviet Union. Endowed with a great sense of numor, and at the same time a fine recognition of the fitness of things Litvinoff has found little difficulty in keeping abreast of the international parade, although to his colleagues he is the only one "out of step." At Geneva, where he first appeared as Soviet delegate to the Preparatory Disarmament Commission in 1928, he adroitly started hostilities by putting the Swiss "on the spot." Following the acquittal, and glorification, of the assassin of Vorowsky, Soviet Ambassador to Italy, who was killed at Lausanne during the first Lausanne conference, the Russians steadfastly refused to send any more representatives to Switzerland until official apologies had been given, indemnity paid to Vorowsky's family and guarantees of protection promised to Soviet emmissaries in the fu-

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—President Roosevelt and Maxim Litvi-noff, special emissary of Soviet Russia, reviewed the status of affairs between their countries today in a talk of almost an hour at the White House. The President and the Russian envoy came together at a formal luncheon at which the few official Soviet representatives in the country and the Cabinet members involved in trade and state relations with the Soviet were assembled. After the luncheon Roosevelt and Litvinoff laid the ground work for negotiations which are expected to result in a recognition of the Soviet Government and a resumption of trade relations between the two countries.

Late in the afternoon Litvinoff left the White House to resume the conversations with Secretary Hull on detailed problems which have accumulated between the two Governments in the 16 years since the birth of the Soviet republic. Tomorrow night Roosevelt and

BEN FRANKLIN'S SLANG AND OUR OWN.

The Federal Bureau of Education, whose duties include keeping up with the changes in our language. has compiled a list of synonyms for the word "intoxicated" which, it says, came into use in the prohibition era. The words are:

Blind, blotto, boiled, canned, cock-eyed, frazzled fried, full, ginned, loaded, lushed, oiled, organized, ossified, pickled, pie-eyed, plastered, potted, primed, shot, snozzled, squiffed, stuccoed, tanked and tipsy.

Benjamin Franklin, writing in his Pennsylvania Gazette more than 200 years ago, undertook a similar philological labor, and presented this list:

Addled, boozy, buzzey, crocus, cocked, cockeved, dagged, fettered, glaized, hammerish, juicy, knapt, lappy, momentous, oiled, pungey, raddled, stewed, tagged, trammeled, valiant.

Weaknesses of Federal Drug Law

Revision of Food and Drug Act is needed to protect public health, physician writes; as it does not cover cosmetics, many dangerous preparations are marketed, he says; would extend list of poisons whose presence in medicines must be declared; law bars fraudulent claims only if made on label, thus permitting deceptive advertising.

Dr. Arthur J. Cramp, Investigator for American Medical Association, in

HERE is under consideration at Washington the problem of so extending the powers and scope of the National Food and Drug Act as to serve better the public safety and conserve the national health. No one familiar with the workings of the law during the past quarter-century will doubt that some extension of its powers is needed. Its failure properly to protect the public lies not with the officials whose duty it has been enforce it, but mainly with the impotency of the act itself.

Reduced to its simplest terms, the act, in so far as it applies to drugs, has these powers and limitations:

1. A drug is defined as any medicine or preparation recognized in the United States Pharmacopeia and the National Formulary, as well as "any substance or mixture of substances intended to be used for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease of either man or other animals."

2. A drug product is misbranded under the law if there appears on or in the trade package any statement regarding its composition or origin that is "false or misleading." 3. Similarly, a drug product is misbranded if there appears on or in the trade package any statement regarding its curative effects that is "false and fraudulent."

4. A drug is also misbranded if the label fails to show the presence and amount of my alcohol, morphine, opium, cocaine, heroin, alpha or beta eucaine, chloroform, cannabis indica, chloral hydrate or acetanilid, or any derivative of any such substance, that the preparation may contain.

By confining the definition of drugs to preparations that are used only for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease, the en-tire cosmetic industry is exempted from the provisions of the act. The exploiters of rugs sold as cosmetics can make the most false and fraudulent claims for their preparations, even on the trade packages, with impunity.

The weakness of the law in controlling claims made for drug products lies mainly in the fact that it covers only those claims that appear on or in the trade package. This means that in the use of the avenues of publicity that bring him the greatest returns, namely, newspaper and magazine advertisements, billboards, radio, circulars distributed by druggists, etc., the manufacturer is subject to no legal control. It is only on or in his trade packages, which the pub-lic does not get until its money has been passed over the counter, that the nostrum maker must keep his claims within reason. The law has made the claims on the trade packages of most patent medicines reasonably conservative, but that this conservatism is due to no feeling of moral obligation on the part of the manufacturer is obvious from the collateral advertising.

Despite all its wesknesses, the act has worked for honesty and fair dealing in the drug field. Its chief weakness lies in the fact that the collateral advertising, which is really what sells patent medicine, is under no control. It is absurd to suppose that the public can be protected against fraudulent claims by a law which governs no ad-

Study of Mummies Shows Disease Was Common to Unhurried Egyptians.

Hardening of the arteries, popularly considered an effect of "the terrific pace of modern life," was common in primitive civilizations Board of the Women's Auxilliary.

The prayers are to be "for all the tus, Washington University scientists told the St. Louis Medical Society last night.

Old age and its characteristic in firmities, came upon the unhurried Egyptians earlier than on the restless modern, reported Dr. George D. Williams, assistant professor anatomy, and Dr. Howard A. Mc-Cordock, associate professor of pathology. They gave illustrated lectures on several years of research in the diseases of the ancients as shown in Egyptian, Peruvian, cliff-dweller and Eskimo mummies provided by Peabody Museum of Harvard University.

The Egyptians knew no dentistry, related Dr. McCordock. In consequence, arthritis following tooth in-fection was so common that the heiroglyphic sign for old age was the figure of a man with his spine bent in a typical arthritic stoop. Arthritic bone deformities were found in the mummies of persons who had died comparatively young.

Tuberculosis was a scourge among the Egyptians, but tumors were remarkably uncommon and the bone, he said. And in contrast to their ignorance of dentistry wa their skill in surgery. That is just exactly what we mean ... a definite written guarantee to save you 40% of your gas heating costs. There are no strings attached to this guarantee. Already, many gas burner installations in St. Louis have been replaced by oil, and in every known instance the change has resulted in lower fuel costs.

What About Monopoly?

Fuel oil prices are competitive—and this very competition assures the dil burner user of a price as low as is consistent with a legitimate return to the oil distributor. Gas is distributed by public utility organizations who enjoy a complete monopoly in a given area. It has been characteristic of most of such organizations that they charge as much for their product as the public will bear. One of our local gas distributing companies recently had the temerity to make application for a 20% increase in rates—when a 31/2% reduction was ordered by the Public Service Commission the utility company secured a court injunction to forestall, the reduction. If you burn gas, the factors which normally operate to bring prices to a fair level are entirely lacking. The utility is guaranteed rates which give it a fixed return on its investment regardless of the capability of its management. Burn oil and be assured a low heating cost for this automatic service.

It was indicated at the White House that Roosevell would leave to his Secretary of State discussions over the multitude of detailed problems between the countries. Attending this morning's conversation between Hull and Litvinoff was a group designated by Roosevelt to advise him in this Government's approach to the question of diplomatic recognition. It included Undersecretary Phillips, Assistant Secretary R. Walton Moore, William Bullitt, special assistant to Hull, Henry Morgenthau Jr., Governor of the Farm Credit Administration and Green H. Litvinoff in Good Humor. The Soviet Commissar presented to the national capital a picture of genial and smiling satisfaction, fairly beaming for photographers when he departed from the White House after a 20-minute visit. Then he returned to the home of Boris Skvirsky, chief of the Soviet Information Bureau and his host in the capital.

Accompanying Litvinoff here were Peter Bogdanov, chairman of the Amtorg Trading Corporation; A. J. Rosenschein, president of the Amtorg; Skvorsky; Konstantin A. Umanski, chief of the press division of the People's Commissariat for Foreign Affairs, and Ivan A. Divilkovski, secretary of the Secretariat of the Collegium of the Foreign Affairs Commissariat.

After being met at Union Station by Secretary Hull, Litvinoff was escorted to the White House last evening by motorcycle police.

James C. Dunn, Chief of Protocol of the State Department, led him to the green room, while six of the White House military staff stood at attention.

Soon President Roosevelt came down the stairs and went to the blue room. Secretary Hull led Lit-vinoff to the blue room for the presentation and then the party joined Mrs. Roosevelt in the red

Only recently Ramsay McDonald felt the sting of Litvinoff's sar-casm, even as a former British Prime Minister, Lloyd George, who had incurred Tchitcherin's displeasure a decade or more ago withered under Russian satire. MacDonald and Litvinoff were friends back in 1918 when the for-mer, a pacifist and radical, still loved the Labor party and the Rus-sian found in England a haven

You haven't changed a bit." To which Litvinoff, without cracking a smile, replied: "No, not a bit—not even my political opinions." MacDonald is touchy on the subject of the British Labor party.

As for Lloyd George, the entire world chuckled when Tchitcherin publicly thanked him—on the air—for the splendid supply of arms and

ENJOY SOUND SLEEP!

Does the modern hustle-bustle rob you of sleep? You can probably pin part of the blame on your coffee. Ordinary coffee contains caffeine . . . and caffeine often causes sleeplessness, overworks heart and nerves.

Switch to Kellogg's Kaffee-Hag Coffee and be on the safe side! 97% caffeine-free. But it's real coffee, blended of finest Brazilian and Colombian beans. Kellogg recently spent over $1,000,000 improving the decaffeinating process... and discovered that the real coffee flavor is actually enhanced by the removal of the bitter caffeine. Kaffee-Hag is mellower. Always mellow, smooth ... never bitter.

Make this test. Drink Kaffee-Hag morning, noon and night. Check up in three weeks. See if sleep hasn't improved. Ground or in the Bean... Roasted by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Vacuum packed. Buy it from your grocer. Satisfaction guaranteed, or money back.

Although she has a flair for di-plomacy and could rival the brilliant Russian ambassadress, Mme. Kolontai, she prefers to write novels and short stories. Several of her books have been published in England. An interesting conversationalist, a pleasing personality, and imbued with the proletarian principles of her adopted country, Mme. Litvinoff is popular with intellec-tual circles in Geneva, Berlin and London. She makes no attempt to move in "high diplomatic society."

She also has a rare sense of humor and thoroughly enjoys seeing her husband's victims squirm under his thrusts in Geneva conferences. An American newspaper man, meeting Mme. Litvinoff on the Rue de Rhone in Geneva one day, was asked to direct her to a store where she could purchase soap flakes. "I need them to wash out stockings and things in the bathtub at my hotel, over which hangs a sign warning me not to launder in my room," she said with a laugh. Then, adding as an afterthought "Did you ever know a Foreign Minster's wife who does her own wash

As a political realist. Maxim Lit. vinoff has no peer among European tatesmen and diplomats. Since he ook over direction of Russia's forign affairs he has successfully negotiated non-aggression treaties with all of Russia's neighbors ex-cept Japan and China. None is needed with China. Turkey, Afghanistan, Lithuania, Latvia, Esthonia, Poland and Rumania all in turn have signed neutrality agreements. Under Litvinoff, Russia also subscribed to the Kellogg Outlawry of War Pact-and observed it despite the tilt that Moscow had with ecretary of State Stimson. Bombng Chinese soldiers bent upon infringement of Russian railway rights with sacks of soot could hardly be construed as war had the ssue reached a climax. In respect to Rumania, Litvinoff has played a clever game. While Moscow does not recognize Rumania's title to Bessarabia, it realizes that for the duration of the treaty—and perhaps for a period of extension—it would be foolish to attempt to change the status quo. Referring to Bessarabia and Manchuria, Litvinoff, discussing his policy of realism, said: "Why not recognize facts? The Rumanians are in Bessarabia; the Japanese are in Manchuria. If they could pick up those territories and transfer them to another place we might be wor-ried. But Bessarabia and Manchuria will always be where they are. The future will take care of

The same reasoning applies to the pending negotiations for the sale of Russia's interest in the Chinese Eastern Railway to Manchukuo. Instead of beating about the bush, Litvinoff proposed the sale directly to Japan. The road is of no value to Russia, strategically or militarily with Japan controlling is decreasing rapidly. It is better to sell it—even at a low figure—than to have it taken away from them eventually The alleged conflict between communism and religion also may be touched on in Litvinoff's American conversations, especially since strong opposition to recognition comes from the churches. Here again Litvinoff can be realistic. He probably will point out that Russia with all her noisy "godless" (who, by the way, constitute an insig-nificant number), perhaps has more than 130,000,000 citizens who believe in some form of religion-Russian Orthodox, Roman Catholicism, Protestantism, Judaism, Mohammedanism or Buddhism. In the United States about 60 per cent of the population, it appears, does not belong to any church. Somewhat of a philosopher, Litvinoff enjoys arguing the merits of various religions and their comparative values to the social structure of nations. At a luncheon given by Sir Eric Drummond, the Russian Commissar, Eamon de Valera, President of the Irish Free State, and Yotaro Sugimura, Japanese under-secretary general of the League, detached themselves from their colleagues. Forgetting politics-which was being discussed all around them-they argued religion Litvinoff, the athiest, versus De Valera, the devout Catholic, with the Shintoist Sugimura as mediating influence. "One of the most interesting discussions I ever listened to in Geneva," was Sugimura's comment after-

Litvinoff found the conversation stimulating—a pleasant digression from the serious business of promoting disarmament.

And as to disarmament and world peace, Litvinoff and American statesmen stand shoulder to shoulder. The Soviets need a generation to consolidate Russia under communism and develop their country into a self-sustaining nation. The United States needs peace for eco nomic reasons-and to indulge an idealistic tendency.

MORE THAN 1400 FAMILIES in St. Louis County heat their homes with Gas.

They have changed from coal, coke and oil, trading in oil burners, and the fuel they had on hand. More are changing every day. These people have gone into the cost question thoroughly and they appreciate the economy of heating with Gas.

In the first place, Gas Heat does not require a big investment in expensive equipment, which carries an interest charge to further increase your heating cost. A gas burner does not de-further increase your heating cost. A gas burner does not de-preciate rapidly or have to be replaced in a few years. It has no moving parts to wear out... therefore it goes on indefinita-ly working for you and saving for you. It saves a lot of aggrava-tion, too! Being constantly and continuously automatic, you never have to touch the furnace or even think about it.

It is also a great satisfaction to know that nothing can inter-rupt the day-in-and-day-out comfort that Gas Heat gives. Snow storms, sleet storms, wind storms, floods or zero weather make no difference in your gas service! This service would not be affected even if such a thing happened as an interruption in the supply of natural gas, because our facilities are modern and fully adequate to the greatest needs of our system under all conditions. Dr. Goebbels Replies Angrily to Their Question and Says They Considered Blaze Their Last Chance.

DEFENDANT ASKS IF NAZIS WERE ARMED

Cabinet Member, Referring to London Inquiry, Regrets Other Nations Permitted Investigation.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.-After an hour's deliberate testimony in the Reichstag fire trial today, Dr. Joseph Goebbels, Propaganda Minister, yelled back at the cross-examination questions of two of the de-fendants.

Ernst Torgler, former Communist floor leader in the Reichstag, asked him: "How can you claim the Communists were the only ones to benefit from the Reichstag fire when on the contrary we knew you controlled the whole state machinery besides the storm troopers and steel helmeters? Wouldn't it have been sheer madness for the Communists to fire the Reichstag?"

The Minister restorted angrily: benefited, but rather who would have if the mad plan for an uprising had succeeded. You knew you would be forbidden and extinguished after the election, hence you considered the Reichstag fire your last chance" Previously Goebbels had stated that "the Communist incendiarists would today pose as great heroes if their plan of giving a signal for an uprising through the Reichstag arson had succeeded."

After several additional angry exchanges between the Propaganda Minister and Torgler, the Presiding Justice, Wilhelm Buenger, interposed with: "Defendant Torgler, if your party declined terrorism, why were so many arms found in Communists' possessi Torgler replied: "I was the parliamentary floor leader, not a memher of the Communist executive I attended my job here in the Reichstag and did not bother about other things."

Georgi Dimitroff, one of the Bulgarian defendants, then arose to ask Goebbels whether it was not true that the Nazis also were armed before Chancellor Hitler came to

Goebbels yelled back: "We would if we had not defended ourselves against the slaughter by commun-Buenger then declined to entertain further questions by Dimitroff. During his previous testimony the Minister said he considered Torgler the most dangerous of all the Communist leaders because he had terroristic intentions under a mask of intellect. Referring to the London Commission which investigated the fire prior to the convening of this trial, Goebbels said bitterly:

"I deeply regret the other nations permitted such a trial-they evidently do not know Commun-

"There simply is no doubt possible in my mind," said Goebbels, "that the Communist party needed sensational act like the Reichstag fire to give the signal for a general uprising. Their plan failed be.

cause they underrated it."
"Nazis Murdered Nightly." Dimitroff tried to cross-examine cabinets of Franz Von Papen and Kurt Von Schleicher the Nazis had been found guilty by the courts of terroristic acts. Goebbels declared these were the acts of provocateurs. Dimitroff also tried to elicit whether the cabinet held the police and the Reichwehr in readiness for the Communist uprising anticipated. The Minister declared the question of public security was a matter for the defense and the police ministers and not for the cabinet as such.

"Terrorism is the cardinal principle of the Communist party," Goebbels said. With trembling voice, he added that "during the days before the Reichstag fire we had to mourn murdered Nazis every night."

CHICAGO NOV. 19; CUP GAME HERE

By Herman Wecke.

St. Louis professional soccer teams will get their first taste of out-of-town competition, Nov. 19, when the Stix, Baer & Fuller eleven goes to Chicago for an exhibition game with the Sparta Club, while the Andersons play the Springfield (III.) Fitzpatrick Lumberjacks in a first round United States Football Association challenge cup match at Sportsman's Park.

Jack Dwyer of the Stix eleven completed arrangements for the invasion of the Windy City yesterday. Inasmuch as the game breaks up the regular league schedule, officials previously had given the Stix permission to negotiate with Sparta. Sparta, rated as one of the best elevens in Chicago, gave the Stix plenty of trouble in a Western final at Sparta Field last season, the locals winning, 1 goal to 0, on a shot by Jimmy Roe. A majority of the athletes who were with the team a year ago still are members of the Springfield Beat Gillespie. When Springfield comes here for its match with the Andersons, local fans will see a new eleven in action, since the club is a newcomer to the challenge cup competition. In its preliminary round contest, the Illinois team won from Gillespie, 3 goals to 1. Benefit Matches Saturday. The next attraction for local fans vill come Saturday, when a doubeheader for the benefit of the Soccer Players' Protective Association will be played at Sportsman's Park. In the preliminary match, two teams selected from the clubs in the Municipal League, while in the second, picked elevens from the professional circuit will fight it out. Title All Wrapped Up.

S OMEHOW, Nebraska year after year seems to get the select material in the Big Six field. Year after year its teams stand up and seldom is it without a strong all-America candidate or two. This year it has another standout in the backfield in Sauer, a brother of Ray Steele, the wrestler.

The Big Six championship is as good as "in" for the Cornhuskers. This eleven won all its conference games and will play its final Big Six engagement against Kansas University, next Satur-

Indications are that Kansas might as well default, as far as any hope of winning is concerned.

Another Fine Team.

N EBRASKA'S record this year is remarkable. In the four conference games and one outside contest it has played (that with Texas) it not only has won average superiority ratio comparison in figures:

First Yards Downs. Gained. Pts. Nebraska 1592 338 Opponents ..17 Nehraska made five times as many first downs, gained nearly five times as many yards and scored approximately 14 times as many points as all five opponents

That's a convincing superiority. One wonders how high this eleven would rate in other conferences. That will be determined in two games which will follow the Jayhawk battle—those with Pitts-burgh and Iowa, both high-ranking elevens, although both have suffered defeat.

Ten Regulars Are Seniors!

As a result, beef is below par, and speed and co-ordination rule the roost at Lincoln. The answer is that 10 of the regular eleven that faced Missouri last Saturday will graduate next year. An all-veteran combination, especially those of the Nebraska brand, makes a pretty tough package to tie up.

Perhaps Iowa and Pittsburgh
will learn more about that before November passes.

PROFESSIONAL soccer footyears as an organized activity in this city, seems in danger of drifting on the rocks

For several seasons it has awaited its annual trial balance with anxiety. Only the out-of-town team games, the U. S. F. A. games and the success of the Stix football club, enabled it to pull through.

For some time it was thought that competition furnished by the free games of the Municipal League was largely responsible for the decline of patronage. The quality of football has risen, at least in spots, so that the blame could not be charged to inferior football. The depression and the chance to see municipal games at no cost were believed to be the explanation of dwindling patronage.

This year, however, the league played several Sunday doubleheaders before the Municipal Association opened, with the result that practically every Sun-day was a financial loser!

Stix Too Strong?

THE situation this year seems to be due partly to the belief of soccer fans that none of the clubs in the league is able to cope with the Stix on even terms. The soccer overhead is considerable, park and other expenses running far above that of the days when the league teams played at Athletic Park and charged 25 cents admission. The remedy seems to be, as often suggested before, more games with out-of-town elevens and strengthening of the local Stix. Both suggestions are difficult to effect because both re-quire money. And "angels" in soccer are rarer than pearls in

ROSENBLOOM'S SLAP-STICK WAY OF HITTING TO GET AN AIRING

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. - Eddie Forbes, veteran referee, has an idea that a rule is a rule, and when it comes to enforement in a fight the best are exactly the same as the

So boxing today enjoyed another entertaining argument, similar 3 shape and form, though scarcely is size, to the debates that still echo faintly through the years over the gave Harry Greb's light heavy. weight title to Gene Tunney and Tiger Flowers' middleweight crown to Mickey Walker.

The argument which the State Athletic Commission may try to settle this week, swirls around that provision in the fighting code that says a blow delivered with an open glove is a foul blow, and should be lebited as such.

Revived by Title Match. It has been revived by the match, in which Maxey Rosen-bloom, a sincere student of the slapping-with-an-open-glove school, successfully defended his light heavyweight title last Friday against the same Mickey Walker ho once won one of these arguments, a Walker now grown old and slow and pudgy and unable w fight very much any more.

So accustomed have the exper become to Rosenbloom's uno dox style, similar as far as th open glove is concerned to that of Greb and Flowers, that they take for granted it doesn't count any more as far as he is concerned. At the end of the fifteen-round contest Judge Jim Buckley gave Rosenbloom nine rounds and Walker six. Judge Charley Lynch thought Max had won 11 rounds, same opinion. But not so Eddie Referee Gives His Version. As referee of the contest, Forbes cast one hearty ballot for Walker, awarding him nine rounds and Rosenbloom four. He explained his

the ringside averaged about the vote as follows: "I have only one boss and that is the rule book. In my opinion Rosenbloom's style of hitting is con-trary to the rules, and until the rules are altered to make his style permissible I will continue to penlize him any time I referee one of his fights. As long as the rules remain as they are I intend to see that they are observed by Rosenbloom and every other boxer." Up to this point the argumen follows exactly the lines laid down when Tunney, after losing his light heavyweight title to Greb in 1922, regained it in 1923 chiefly on the basis of Harry's consistent whacking around of him with open gloves. Similarly does it follow the after the Negro had lathered him incessantly through 10 rounds but with open gloves.

Will Be Aired Tomorrow.

But from this point on the argument changes.
"Why," demands Bill Brown, new member of the New York State Athletic Commission, of Referee Forbes, "didn't you heave Rosen-bloom from the premises before 15 rounds were up, if he was fouling so consistently that he was penal-ized half a dozen rounds?" For the moment the matter rests there. It will be taken up, with all points shrewdly considered and all parties questioned thoroughly, at tomorrow's meeting of the com-

DUQUESNE ELEVENS HAVE WON 23 STRAIGHT FROM EASTERN RIVALS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Among football's miracle men consider the claims to high rank of Elmer Layden, coach of Juquesne University of Pittsburgh. Laboring patiently for eight years, Layden finally has developed a team that is rated among the best in the East and must be regarded as a serious threat for the mighty Pitt Panthers themselves this week.

Duquesne was playing a smallcollege schedule almost exclusively three years ago. Now they are more than a match for major powers victorious in eight successive games so far this fall and numbering among their victims Detroit, Wash-ington and Jefferson, Bucknell, Western Maryland and West Vir ginia. Under Layden, Duquesne has won 48 games, lost 20 and tied seva-ing eight seasons, nine of those de-feats coming the first two years of Layden's regime.

Layden's regime.

Despite their impressive record this year, the Dukes do not figure to beat Pitt.

Incidentally, Pitt's defeat by Minnesota three weeks ago has served to make some football followers forget the remarkable record Jock Sutherland's Panthers have compiled against Eastern opposition in recent years. Since a 6—0 reverse by Carnegie Tech midway through the 1928 campaign, the Panthers have ripped past 23 Eastern rivals in a row without a single the much less a defeat.

Coach Zuppke Gives His Idea Of a Successful Quarterback

He Must 'Use "Common Sense" in His Selection of Plays -Many Athletes in This Position Are Never Given Credit They Really Deserve.

Says Schools Were Deprived of Rights by Good Roads Amendment.

Passage of Gov. Park's sales tax proposal, by the Legislature in special session, was urged by Charles A. Lee, State Superintendent of Schools, in a luncheon address before the Kiwanis Club of West St. Louis, at the Gatesworth Hotel to-

"We all now realize," Supt. Lee said, "that the public school system of this State was deprived of its constitutional rights when we adopted the good roads constitutional amendment. According to the spirit of our fathers, the public schools of this State should now be sharing in all automobile license and gasoline moneys. But such a proposal would not meet the pres-

19 STATES ALL READY FOR THE SALE OF LIQUOR

They Set Up Laws in Anticipation of Repeal-Missouri May Do So.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8. - Liquor may legally be sold in 19 States when the last step in repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment is taken in These States are: Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Montana, Nevada, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, Washington and Wisconsin.

The other States have either constitutional or statutory prohibition and repeal of national ional prohibition leaves the State laws unaffected.

Thirty-three States were dry when national prohibition was adopted. Now only 29 will be dry. Most of the States in which liquor can be sold after the 36th Ratifying Convention is held have already set up laws to control the sale. Others have such laws under consideration. The status of Pennsylvania depends on a legal ruling to interpret the State Enforcement

In Missouri, liquor control legis ation is one of the subjects Gov. Park has submitted to the legislature now in special session. Tennessee is technically a State that does not have State prohibi tion, but a law that forbids the sale of liquor within four miles of chool makes it a dry State in fact Under the Twenty-first Amendment, which will repeal the Eighteenth, no liquor may be transported into dry States. There is one exception. South Carolina where the law allows the imports tion of one quart of liquor a month to anyone who makes application to a county judge.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Today's Government cotton crop report placing the indicated yield at 13,100,000 bales was under average expectations and buying of futures became more active after its publication. Trading was comparatively quiet with a little southern selling and liquidation absorbed by covering and trade buying at the opening. Later prices eased slightly, but trading continued quiet and the market befire session had gone far was steady at net advances of 4 to 5 points. There was further December liquidation largely in the form? of switching. Very little hedging was reported and wires from the South said little cotton had been sold over the local holiday but that the basis was firm. Another private crop report issued placed the indicated yield at 12,240,000 bales which was within the range but below the average of previous private rerevenue of American Telephone & Tele-graph Co. was $7,252,699, compared with $7,123,604 a year ago. NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—American dollar slumped to new low levels in foreign exchange markets today, although it recovered slightly in the afternoon.

Iterms of the French franc, which advanced .09 of a cent to 6.16 cents, the dollar was valued at approximately 63.63 cents. Measured by the R. F. C. domestic gold price, which was stepped up 21 cents an ounce to $33.05, the dollar's theoretical value was about 62.54 cents.

At the same time the British pound sterling galmed 5½ cents at $4.95, a new post-war high; Dutch guilders were up .95 of a cent at 63.50 cents and Beigian belgas and Swiss francs firmed .30 and .45 of a cent, respectively. German marks, the Scandinavians and Japanese yen improved ¼ to ¼ cent. Canadian dollars were unchanged at $1.

Dealers attributed the continued decline in international dollar rates partly to the steadily advancing gold price here and the resultant expansion of inflationary psychology.

Savages and Cynics-How Do They Get That Way?

(Copyright, 1933.) T'S SO easy to doubt—and so fashionable! The world is filled with Smart Doubters and Sneerers. In five minutes they can con vince you that there's nothing good in nobody nohow!
Never was 'n never will be.
God? Pooh!

comfort their oneliness.
Love? There's really no love That's just a fancy name for our selfishness We only "love hose things which are part of ourselves-which we cherish as part of ourselves.

Justice? Don't make me laugh!

"It's for those with a bank roll."

Honor? What hooey! "Every man has his price."

So the cynics prattle on, thinking what Bright Boys they are, and get-ting many an admiring hand. And you listen, with your sad heart sinking lower and lower.

For what hope is there for you, in your wretchedness and bewilder-ment, if there is no God to hear your little prayer—no human love to stand by you through the long, dark night—no justice or honor to lean on in the great, cruel world? Yet, surely, these scoffing men and women with their brilliant minds must be right.

But they're not, my dear. Doubting is no proof of a brilliant mind.

It is merely the proof of a stupid, frightened mind.

The best doubters in the world are savages. A Zulu doubts every-thing outside the narrow range of his own experience; scoffs at any-thing new. And he can put up quite as convincing an argument as the most sophisticated cynic—and along exactly the same lines. Life seems as ugly and heartless to the savage as it does to the cynic. He, too, can produce a thousand reasons to prove that man is the helpless victim of malicious forces.

But when you hear a savage say these things, you say, "He's just a poor, ignorant creature. He doesn't know what life is all about. His ideas are the reflection of his own fear, his own hate. He has no imagination. He doesn't dream that there is a beautiful, brave, kindly world outside his dark and blood bespattered jungle."

You say that when a naked sayage, with a ring in his nose, grunts and gibbers and grins at "white man magic." But when a Famous Intellectual in evening dress arises in a smart drawing room and tells you that there is no God, or when you read that same Intellectual's grunts, grins and gibberings as set down in a $5 volume, you swallow it hook, bait and sinker.

Silly you! The only difference between that Intellectual and the Jungle Savage is that one wears pants and a gardenia and the other wears war paint and a nose ring. Otherwise their viewpoint, and their value to society, are identical. But isn't the world filled with

It certainly is.

Look through a test tube at a drop of water. Examine a rose petal. Watch a mother's eyes as she comes out of the agony of travail and sees her baby for the first time. Read the history of heroic Father Damien, giving life in service to the lepers; of gentle Edith Cavell facing a firing squad that she might aid those caught within the hell of war. Then doubt, if you can, that there is a God and that His image lives and grows within the hearts of men! Then why do seemingly intelligent people choose to sneer and scoff? Because it's easier. Doubt's always easier than faith. For doubt is the frightened savage thing, and we're still part frightened savage. But faith is the brave civilized thing, and civilization is still a

The famous airman traveled with an air circus in 1925 and 1926, performing as a parachute jumper and using a borrowed 'chute and chartered planes. The following day a chip of incan descent metal attack him is the second metal attack him is his own plane." The following day a chip of incan descent metal struck him in the pupil of his left eye, necessitating its removal. He was paid $1800 comp ensation insurance with which he purchased an old "Canuck" or Canadian Jenny plane which he recom missioned. This start led to the famous two flights around the world, which placed him in the front ran k of airdom.

We see what ought to be done, but we seem unable to do it. There is no lack of aspiration and intention; it is a lack of driving power. We have plans and programs in plenty, but very little "gets done," as we say. Something goes wrong and we run into a stone wall. The story of the years since the Armistice proves it. The World War cost the lives of 10,000,000 men and untold treasure, yet we are armed to the teeth. We think war even when we talk peace. Being defeat as final!

To bid a second suit constructively at this point, it must be headed by its ace. If of four cards, not weaker than A Q x x or A J 10 x (to give a two-way finesse against the queen if partner has the king). A fivecard suit headed by ace-jack will do, as, if your partner has the king, he can either finesse against the queen or, more probably, ruff the queen out and set up long small cards in it to give him his needed discards.

This Is Important. Do not rebid your trump suit vol-untarily unless you have the ace of it. With the ace, rebid even a fourcard suit without qualm-as you now know that there are no trump losers at all. With three primary tricks and any distribution but 4-3-3-3, I think you should make a further bid over four spades. With distributed strength, bid four no trumps; with strength only in three suits, or with a disinct distribution al preference for suit play, bid five of no trumps, not having the trump ace, and your partner has the trump ace, he will be able to bid to the right contract almost without chance of error. He knows why you bid four no trumps-because you lack the trump ace but have three or more primary tricks in your hand. He should now be able make a constructive rebid himself in order to get further knowledge from you, without any risk of getting to too-high a contract. Naturally, if you

A voluntary raise in spades is the bid which confirms possession of the ace while also accepting the slam try by virtue of three or more primary tricks in your hand.

With Three Aces in your hand, you know that there is no ace against you, and must on no account stop short of a slam. Young and pretty Shelby Barret, professional horsewoman and member of an aristocratic Southern family, marries Johnny Wyatt, impoverished scion of the prominent North Shore Wyatts. Johnnies' snobbish relatives disapprove of Shelby Barret because of her professional standing. The latter called "Nicko," discharged Shelby because of jealousy over Johnnie. "Nicko" has also settled in Wyattville and slanders Shelby. Fairchild's wealth is an "Open Sesame" to smug Wyattville society. He gives a party and bets Shelby a nickel that all the elite will be present. Johnnie resents Fairchild and Shelby hesitates mentioning the party to him. That night, however, he returns home in a jubilant mood for he has succeeded in interesting two prominent bankers in his real estate project. Fairchild offers to put Shelby in the way of some real money, but realizing she is treading on dangerous grounds, Shelby refuses. The following morning Johnnie receives a jolt when his bankers inform him that the $10,000,000 mortgage must be lifted before they take over the property. He needs $9000 which Shelby optimistically promises to get trom her grandfather, but the aged man is also in temporary financial straits. There are still some tough clams who refuse to open their shells.
